Nervously the four brave fighters crept out of the bathroom door when the number 13 opened on the door. Suddenly they were lipping across the hall to get to room 13. ~~Shaking Madi was the first in~~ Shaking Josh was the first in with the torch Josh had brown eyes ~~thick~~ blond hair proper short hair. Madi was next in with the cross aloft She had long short hair, she also had brown eyes She also had whitey grey glasses, she had really pretty earrings She was tall and small She was smallest of them all Leah came next with the hammer, she had short hair She ~~is~~ also had dark brown hair and dark ~~brown~~ brown eyes She does not have glasses her hair was thin She had dogie poodle earrings. Sam he has brown hair but was sort of bold he had blue eyes and loves x box 360 he ~~especially~~ loves his pet dog.

Silently Leah turned to Sam and screamed as loud as she could, "hold that stake grab it high you must go in the room first to get ready to aim!" he mumbled "~~She~~ b b b but but b but I'm terrified!" "Nonsense open that stupid door!" came the stern reply from Leah. There was no chance for the others to shout and scream at each other in fact none of them would shout or scream at each other any way especially not ~~at~~ at the brave intelligent ~~best~~ boss Leah. The exsultant plan was in place and ~~every~~ every single one of them Leah - Madi - Josh and Sam knew what they had to try there to do. ~~No~~ Not everyone was entirely sure with what they actually wanted to do it they felt like they were going for a horrible disgusting blood test. It is all in there hands.

Hearts beating as fast as lightning, the first fighters entered the scary hanging room 13. I took a brief second or two for their eyes to adjust to the long pale box. The demons bed lay upon the fighters eyes as they began to adjust. The blood hovering beast lay inside. His light cristal skin sparkled as the ~~brave~~ brave fighters looked upon him. Josh's torch flickered on and off their shadows flickered and ~~shivered~~ shivered and scattered across the room. It was more scary than they ~~thout~~ thought that they ~~would~~ would still kill the vampire. What would ~~be~~ they do next?

Instantly Sam raised his stake and placed it right on the beast's black still heart. He was scared trying to look at the sparkling cristal skin, however he was unsure whether the vampire would awake while he was holding the stake. Josh shone his torch while he was walking around the ruby red coffin. His torch was flickering like lightning, his eyes bloody eyes were flickering as if he was about to wake up all of a sudden his eyes flickered open. ~~Hadie~~ Madi held the cross aloft in front of the demon's eyes as he was racing to get out of the room he came turning up. All of the brave fighters pushed the vampire down to hammer the stake in. They had got him down and back to sleep. Leah then grabbed the hammer and hammered quickly as possible, just then the beast gripped the stake. They still hammered as fast as they could faster and faster, they were hammering the wooden stake then pop went the heart. They heard a howling howl, coming from the beast's mouth. Finally. All silent. They did it.
